22, HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

My Violet,

This is written in a terrific hurry 11 P.M. — We went over the house today — the only thing is
we think the rooms two small.
It seems absurd, but Hoby & Brian possibly forgo. do take up a lot of space, & I think that is a real objection
There isn't one big room, all through — Jack went with us — terrible but dis Conjugacy — showed us the neighbourhood which he thinks bad — & Lay we should never get any body to come — we

25, HYDE PARK GATE
S.W.

my, a to dine - the walk to a cab is a Corsage a drawback -
He thinks we should have to spend a great deal in doing up - a doubt, what we should get for this hovel - NYPL I think it is rather impossible - for two people, a coupe it would be perfect. The garden steps a place make my mouth water -
If only there were more room, a they needed by doing up. Nothing fettled yet - but I dont believe we shall take it - Oh Lord - what a bore it is - a my poor Violet took such a lot of trouble - & in some ways I know we shant get nothing

near so nice.

Goodnight my Violet - & Blessings
for all you have done, &
do for us.

Ever yrs.

22, HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

Thursday.

My Robert,

I'm afraid your cold must be worse - Do take care, & stay in bed. No change here - His temp. stays 99 - but Henry says it doesn't mean anything Wilson is only coming every other day in future. He says his visits are useless, & they worry Father. He says he feels steadily weaker, but still has wonderful strength - positive strength. There he lies all day, almost asleep, hardly able to read - but he may still enjoy seeing people. He had Romer & Will Vaughan today - Kitty yesterday. Don't come tomorrow, please. & there

23A HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

15th the last reason against A. Bratrice was here to lunch today - for will meet Nessa & Roger tomorrow.

Yrs Lyp.

NYPL

NYPL

22, HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

Dear Robert.

They are bad today. He had a sudden shivering fit this morning & his temp. went up to 104. It went down again & he has slept most of the day. Wilson doesn't know what it means, probably something to do with the bladder, but says there's no immediate danger. This evening he was very sick, & we sent for Wilson who has just gone: 11 P.M. He says the sickness may be only indigestion – or it may be a symptom of other trouble. His temp. to night is 104. pt 2. Lang thinks him very ill. He is only to have a milk diet. Of course they may get this under – but they can tell nothing.

They dont know what happening.
Welsh comes at 9 tomorrow morning. I will telegraph how he is.

NYPL

S Ff.

22, HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

Wed: morning

My Violet,

He is very weak this morning. He can take nothing but milk, but the Drs say there is no real change. His thanks it was kind. Keeps going up & down. To-day is terribly weak. He is very same as last time. His is very sick. I will write again.

Yr M.

22, HYDE PARK GATE,
S.W.

10 P.M.

My Robert,

Wilson has just been. He says there is no change since this morning. His temp. goes up & down every hour, but his pulse is about the same. He is perfectly comfortable, & talked naturally just now when we said good night.

Beatrice was here this morning. She thinks her mother wishes to stay. I hope only for to night — at a hotel near. She evidently wanted to — & the dear Father again he knew her & she was pleased.

My Robert, for ever a help.

F. A. B.